

Junior Consultant

Meat, Dairy, Bakery, Ingredients Markets

(ref G23-BA-GEN/EN)

You will be a member of a small, dynamic, and multicultural team working in an excellent environment.

Role & Responsibilities

Gira provides on-going training in our in-house tools and methodologies so you will progressively be able to:

- ✔ Analyse data (from quantitative and qualitative sources), combine and translate information into a comprehensive format (synthesis, webinar, report, presentation)
- ✔ Stay updated with the latest developments in the different sectors of expertise of Gira (Meat, Dairy, Bakery, Ingredients Markets): companies' information, market trends, etc.
- ✔ Conduct research through document analysis, public databases and interviews with key players
- ✔ Build and maintain a strong network of internal relationships with business contacts and clients; mainly business unit managers
- ✔ Support our communications strategy
- ✔ Provide new ideas for Gira's development.

Skills & Experience

You should ideally have knowledge of the food chain, and a good understanding of basic economic theory. Junior profiles with a master's degree in agronomy, food science or economics or with 3 to 5 years' experience in the field are accepted. You must also have:

- ✔ Advanced knowledge in Excel and PowerPoint. Knowledge on Power BI is an advantage
- ✔ Fluent English; fluency in a language other than French and English (German, Spanish, Italian, Arabic, Chinese) is appreciated
- ✔ Good communication skills (both oral and written)
- ✔ Good interpersonal relationship skills and a taste for teamwork
- ✔ Advanced analytical, leadership, and problem-solving skills
- ✔ High organisational skills and attention to detail.

Conditions

The successful candidate will be offered a full-time permanent contract based in our head-office in Ferney-Voltaire. Your monthly salary will be based on experience. Gira offers two days of remote work per week.

To apply for this role, please send your CV in English to recruitment@girafood.com.

The Company

Founded in 1970, Gira is recognised as a specialist food industry expert at all levels of the supply chain worldwide from farm inputs to consumer-packaged goods. We carry out assignments for the world's leading companies, particularly in the dairy, meat & livestock, bakery, and food ingredients sectors.

Our highly experienced managers, extensive network of international consultants and partners are imbedded "in market" around the world. Gira's industry-wide recognition for high-quality work and extent of experience gives us access to the latest information and trends from the decision-makers making it happen, and a unique understanding of dynamics and complexities in the food industry.
